

7th Nordic Health Promotion Research Conference Promoting Health in Everyday Settings: Opportunities and Challenges

Vestfold University College, Norway, June 17th-19th 2013

VESTFOLD
UNIVERSITY COLLEGE

More than 100 scientists will contribute in the conference, and enhance our understanding of health promotion across a variety of settings and issues.

The conference offers a unique insight into Nordic perspectives on health promotion, and into the status of research on settings approaches to health promotion.

There will be a combination of oral presentations, workshops, and poster presentations highlighting among other things:

- Workplace health promotion
- Health promoting schools
- Reorienting health and welfare services
- Healthy public policy and partnerships
- Mental health and well-being
- Women's health
- Salutogenesis
- Health promoting universities
- Health promoting settings for children
- Physical activity

The conference venue is easily accessible through different travelling options that you can read more about on the conference's homepage.

Greatly reduced price for master- and PhD-students!
